

New Information Posted 1/17/23

The Dunn Compressor FMJ-OFO notice is terminated effective immediately.

The Unplanned Dunn Maintenance Notice (Notice ID: 5103), posted on November 14th, 2022 still remains in effect.

Previous Information Posted 12/27/22

Beginning Wednesday, December 28th, 2022, and continuing until further notice, shippers contracted with north zone pooling supply or east of Dunn receipts (MROs), with deliveries east of Dunn will be required to source all receipts with flowing supply from receipt points east of the Dunn Compressor Station. Further, shippers with receipts (MROs) west of the Dunn compressor station must either reduce deliveries by 25 percent or secure flowing supply from receipt points east of the Dunn Compressor Station.

All other details in the previous posting remain unchanged.

This Operational Flow Order (“OFO”) is being issued pursuant to Sections 8 and 20.3, GT&C, of EGT’s Tariff and shall constitute notice of Force Majeure (FMJ) at EGT’s Dunn Compressor Station, located in Logan County, Arkansas. This OFO supercedes the previously posted Unplanned Dunn Maintenance Posting Update (#5128). The Dunn Compressor Station lost more units in the early morning hours of December 23rd, 2022, limiting throughput capacity by 40 percent.

Beginning immediately and continuing until further notice, shippers contracted with north zone pooling supply or east of Dunn receipts (MROs), with deliveries east of Dunn will be required to source all receipts with flowing supply from receipt points east of the Dunn Compressor Station. Further, shippers with receipts (MROs) west of the Dunn compressor station must either reduce deliveries by 40 percent or secure flowing supply from receipt points east of the Dunn Compressor Station.

As more information becomes available, EGT will notify its shippers by updating this posting.
