

Dear EGT Shipper Community,

As the winter season approaches, we would like to remind our valued shippers that per the EGT tariff, each Shipper is expected to be balanced every day (see, e.g., Section 5.7, GT&C, of EGT's Tariff).

Additionally, as part of the EGT community, we rely on each other to successfully run our respective and very diverse businesses. Therefore, all market participants will be best served by staying as balanced as possible and communicating with us any new daily challenges that may arise. Imbalances that negatively impact EGT's operations or have the potential to place another's business operations at risk will be timely addressed (including through individualized OFOs and associated penalties).

Please join the rest of the community in staying balanced and minimizing or avoiding penalty risk.

We thank you for your business and for the community that we have collectively built. Please let us know how we can better serve your natural gas transportation needs.

Your EGT Team
